Household hazardous waste

What is household hazardous waste?

Common household products like aerosols, cleaners, and fluorescent lamps are safe enough fresh off the store shelf, but they can release toxic propellants, chemicals and mercury into our atmosphere and waterways when they're abandoned in garages or crushed in waste hauling vehicles and placed in the landfill. You may be surprised at the products in your home that have the words "danger," "warning," "caution," and "poison" on the label. Never dispose of these toxic household items down the sink, on the ground, down a storm drain or in your garbage. Some household products without warning labels are also considered hazardous such as computers, televisions, compact fluorescent lamps, and batteries.

Household hazardous wastes, other than motor oil and oil filters (page 6), and electronics (page 3) are not collected at the curb. You must bring these items to a collection center, neighborhood collection or community collection program for proper disposal:

- Paints and stains
- Pesticides, herbicides, poisons, and fertilizer
- Pool and spa chemicals
- Motor oil, antifreeze, gasoline and other automotive fluids
- Paint thinners and solvents
- Household cleaners
- Batteries (alkaline based batteries can go in the garbage for disposal)
- Art and hobby supplies
- Aerosol spray products
- Propane tanks and bottles from barbecue grills
- Fire extinguishers
- Fluorescent lamps, compact fluorescent lamps, ballasts
- Mercury containing items such as thermometers and thermostats
- Beauty products such as nail polish, remover, hair perms, alcohol based perfumes
- Cellular phones
- Electronics (see page 3)
- Medications (see page 11)
- Computers
- Fax machines
- Keyboards
- Power supplies
- Printers
- Scanners

TIPS

- Dispose of empty containers in the garbage.
- Dispose of dry paint cans in the garbage without the lids on.
- Dispose of alkaline batteries in the garbage. (AAA, D, AA, etc.)
- Used motor oil, filters and electronics can be picked up at the curb. (See pages 3 and 6 for more information).
- Rechargeable batteries may be taken to Lowe's, Home Depot, Batteries Plus and Radio Shack.
- Home Depot and Lowe's stores in Sarasota County are able to take fluorescent lamps.
- Best Buy stores in Florida will accept 32" or smaller tube-style and 60" or smaller flat panel televisions and monitors.

Neighborhood collection

If your residential development is at least eight driving miles from the nearest collection center, we can bring a one-day neighborhood collection event to you. Neighborhood volunteers organize and advertise the event, and participate by directing traffic and unloading vehicles. County staff will take it from there. Guidance and assistance for a successful neighborhood program will be provided by county staff.

Community collection

Want to organize a continuous community collection program? The community collection program is operated by and for your community with training and disposal assistance provided by county staff. You may set your own collection schedule where community volunteers collect household hazardous waste and then transport the waste to one of our collection centers for disposal on pre-arranged delivery days.

TIPS

If you have expired or unused medications, don't discard them down the sink or toilet, as they can harm the environment and wildlife.

For more information on collection centers, neighborhood collections or the community collection program, contact the Sarasota County Contact Center at 861-5000.

Storm debris

Prepare now to prevent storm debris by trimming trees and cleaning up your property before the start of hurricane season, June 1.

If a storm causes damage to your property, contact the Sarasota County Contact Center at 861-5000 for instructions on how to prepare storm-related debris for removal. If debris is not properly prepared, the property owner/resident is responsible for debris disposal and the cost to remove the debris.

TIPS

- Avoid stacking debris by utility poles, under power lines, on top of water meters or other water connections, by fire hydrants, by vehicles, next to mailboxes or fences or on storm drains.
- Do not place storm debris in the street.

Separate storm debris into the following categories:

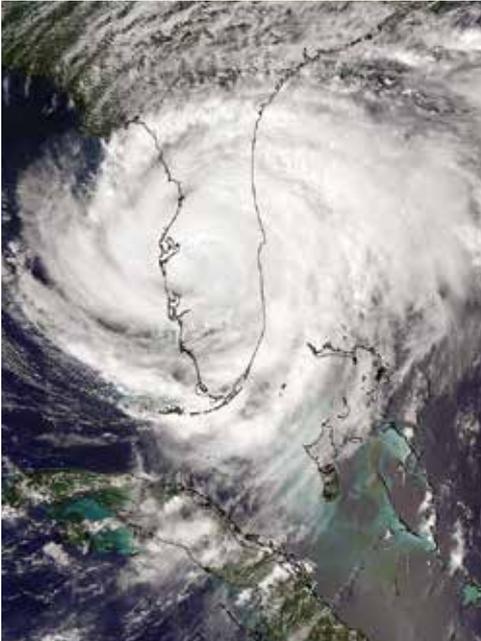

- Garbage – place spoiled food in containers, or double bag it for pick-up
- Household goods – furniture, clothes, books, toys and carpet
- Vegetative – tree limbs and trunks
- Construction materials – drywall, roof shingles, aluminum
- Appliances – refrigerators, water heaters, televisions and computers

Live on a private road?

Residents who live on a private road must grant the county the right to enter the roadway for debris removal prior to any debris removal occurring. This requires a completed Right-of-Entry and Hold Harmless form that is notarized and signed by the legal owner of the road or a legal representative, such as a homeowner's association.

When the form is signed and notarized, it must be recorded (at the owner's expense) with the Sarasota County Clerk's office. A copy of the recording must then be provided to Sarasota County Solid Waste.

For further information about debris removal on private roads or to obtain the Right-of-Entry/Hold Harmless form, contact the Sarasota County Contact Center at 861-5000.
